

American Educational Institute Celebrates 50th Anniversary

American Educational Institute (AEI) is celebrating 50 years of educating the claims professional through self-study claims law programs. The same commitment to quality, flexible and interactive education on which AEI was founded in 1969 still holds true today. What began with one program 50 years ago has grown into six programs with thousands of claims professionals earning designations each year. AEI remains as dedicated as ever to advancing claims law professionalism.

"We're excited to mark such an important milestone this year and very proud of the legacy we've created as a company. We would like to thank all of our students and corporate partners, who have supported us and continue to support us and are looking forward to continuing our goal of providing the highest quality claims law education!"

-Amy Koernig, AEI President

We appreciate your continued support and look forward to many more years of providing claims law training.

